

Know my name!

Children just love it when you know their name and here is a fun ice-breaker just to do that. A great ending is to say that we might not remember each other's names but isn't it amazing that God not only knows our names but He knows how many hairs are on our heads!

Items needed:

- 1 ball
- Label stickers
- Markers

Game instructions:

1. Give each child a label sticker with their name on it.
2. Have the children sit in a circle.
3. Say someone's name and throw the ball to them.
4. They pick someone else, say their name and throw the ball to them.
5. Once the children know each other's names fairly well, remove the name labels and continue playing.
6. For a bit of added fun make an ice ball by freezing a water balloon and then removing the balloon when it is frozen. Children will want to pass it fast and have such a laugh as it begins to melt.
